Our resident Anna's and migrating Rufous hummingbirds are an important part of our ecosystem helping control insects are great pollinators.
This winter, look at your garden's potential and where you can contribute to its winter beauty by adding a tree, shrub, or grasses.
Explore the benefits of using keystone plants to create a wildlife-friendly ecosystem in your own garden.
Learn about pollinators and open your eyes to the beauty and intricate connectivity of nature. As gardeners, we can make choices that will enhance or inhibit pollinators.
Join us for a day of discovery and learning at the Skagit Master Gardener's Discovery Garden in Mount Vernon